Political Festival participants sign the National Anthem.

Robert Fratkin brought his display of political memorabilia to the Oct. 3 event.

Edward C. Merrill, Jr. decked himself out in hat and flag to speak at the event.

Campus Political Festival

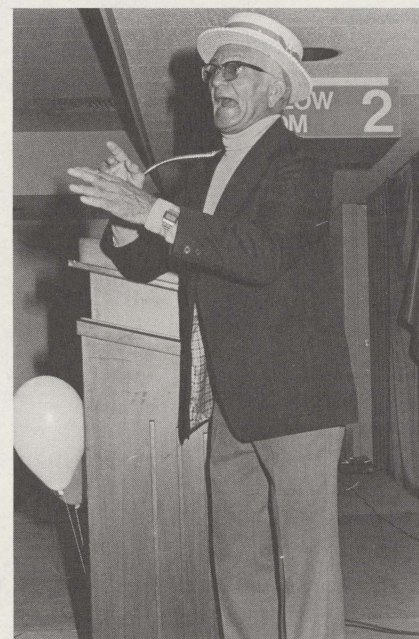

Oct. 3 was an evening for speeches, clowns, balloons, hot dogs, corn on the cob, flag-waving and all the trappings of a good old-fashioned political rally. And a good-sized crowd turned out for Gallaudet's Political Festival, sponsored by Demonstration Programs and the Student Union. The event was the first of a number of activities scheduled for October, dubbed "Political Awareness Month".

Many observers arrived early to view the exhibits—political cartoons, old New York Times front pages of election results, cases of political memorabilia, charts of the voting process and promotional material on the candidates. Political cartoonist Tom Meyer entertained the crowd with his drawings, persons got to see how campaign buttons were made and the League of Women Voters had a table for voter registration.

Dynamic Demonstration Programs Director Don Pettingill helped keep the political spirit rolling throughout the evening. According to Pettingill, there are three kinds of people in the world: those who make things happen, those who watch things happen and those who don't know what's happening. He encouraged the group to be the first kind of people, to get involved so that deaf and hearing impaired people can have an impact on politics: "If we could make up all of our minds together, what happens? We can change the world. But we have not learned that yet."

Edward C. Merrill, Jr. told persons gathered in the Dining Hall that "now is the time to think through the issues of government so you can participate and make a difference." He spoke of his own recent participation at Carter's signing of an amendment to the Higher Education Act and a subsequent meeting at the White House with Secretary of Education Patricia Hufstедler.

Dedication of new Kendall School set for Thursday

Dedication of the new Kendall Demonstration Elementary School is scheduled for this Thursday, Oct. 16 at 2 p.m. in front of the school, and a gala celebration is planned.

A special guest at the ceremonies will be artist Corita Kent. She is internationally known for her serigraphs (silkscreen prints), which she began in the 60's while working as a faculty member at Immaculate Heart College in Los Angeles. Kent has donated original art work to be used on the invitations, posters and programs for the dedication. Kent divides her time between her art gallery in California and studio in Boston. Some of her serigraphs, given to the College by a friend, can be seen at the Mary Thornberry Building.

Mayor Marion Barry will also be on hand to bring greetings from the city, as well as U.S. Senator Jennings Randolph of West Virginia, chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on the Handicapped. Also attending the event will be Dr. Percy Bates, deputy assistant secretary for Special Education and Rehabilitative Services and director of the Office of Special Education, U.S. Department of Education.

The Gallaudet College Board of Trustees, meeting at that time, will attend the dedication, as well as Pre-College Vice President Robert Davila, KDES Dean Michael Deninger and Principal Ken Tiktin. Edward C. Merrill, Jr. will welcome the group.

The U.S. Marine Band and Color Guard will open the program. Kendall students will sign the Pledge of Allegiance and National Anthem and will participate in the ribbon cutting. Bernard Bragg, now with Gallaudet's Department of Theatre Arts, will perform original skits.

If the weather is bad (and we hope not), the dedication will be held in the Kendall gym. Tours of the facility and a reception will follow the ceremony.

A number of activities are planned for the dedication of Kendall School this Thursday.

Library Bits & Pieces

Special collection on deafness

by Carolyn Jones

The Gallaudet College Library has one of the best collections of information related to deafness in the world. More than 10,000 periodicals, monographs, conference proceedings, reprints of articles from journals to which the Library does not subscribe, nonprint items and other materials comprise this collection. Most of these materials are accessible through the COM Catalog or through the DEAF data base on SIRE/G, the local on-line information system. Circulating copies of these materials are stored in the Deaf Collection Room. The first or original copy of each item is kept in a special area in Archives. The purpose of this special group of materials is to serve as a permanent, in-house research collection. These "Copy 1" materials can be used by any library user when the circulating copy of an item is unavailable. Ask the librarian on duty for assistance. All "Copy 1" materials must be used in the Library.

Deaf-related periodicals, including publications of deaf organizations, societies and schools are arranged alphabetically by title in the Deaf Collection Room. The most recent yearbooks from the schools for the deaf and current issues of the following are available at the Check-Out Desk: American Annals of the Deaf, Volta Review, Deaf American, NTID Focus, Spotlight, etc. Access to periodicals is through the Union List of Campus Periodicals or the MAGS data base of SIRE/G.

The Deaf vertical files (subject and biographical) contain items which are not cataloged, such as newspaper clippings, leaflets and brochures. Items are kept in folders and arranged alphabetically by subject. These files are kept locked. Ask the librarian on duty for assistance. These items do not circulate.

The Library tries to obtain all dissertations published on subjects related to deafness. Currently the Library has more than 2,500 dissertations and theses on microfilm. These are cataloged and kept in cabinets in the Media Room.

For more information on the Deafness Collection, contact Carolyn Jones, x5574 voice or x5575 TDD.

College Council discusses smoking, educational help, sign language

The College Council held its monthly meeting Oct. 1, and some of the more interesting topics on the agenda were policies on "Smoking Limitation" and "Educational Assistance."

Non-smokers have complained about working in a room with a person or persons who smoke, attending meetings/conferences on campus where people light up, etc. Smokers also have complained about non-smokers complaining.

The College Council accepted the proposed policy, which is intended to serve as a helpful solution in respecting the interests of both groups. The policy, among other things, states that smoking is not permitted in classrooms, conference rooms, auditoriums, elevators, shuttle vehicles, libraries and other public areas. It is permitted in privately enclosed offices housing only one employee, and that employee may also post a "no smoking" sign. Majority opinion will prevail in offices housing more than one employee, and a majority of non-smokers may request that the smokers use a separately designated area to smoke.

A copy of the proposed policy can be reviewed by contacting any College Council member. This also applies to any item on a College Council agenda.

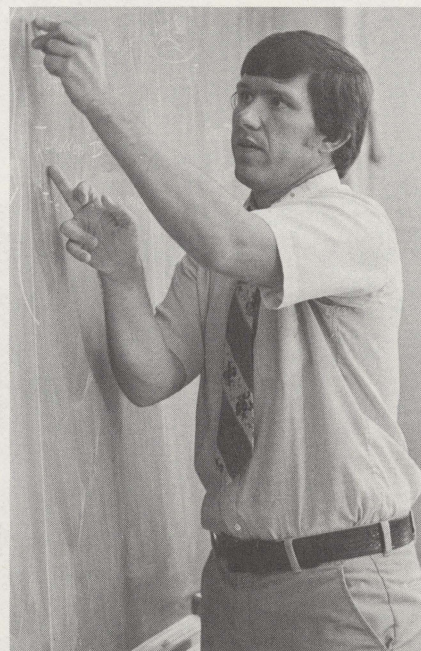

The Educational Assistance policy was accepted by the College Council. This revised policy will reimburse permanent employees at the rate of up to $1,200 per academic year, including summer sessions as well. The previous policy did not include summer sessions and reimbursed individuals up to $300 per semester. See the policy for complete eligibility requirements and application procedures. The above policies as well as other policies accepted by the Council are subject to approval by the Board of Trustees. The Board meets on Oct. 16.

Equally important to many people on campus was the College Council discussion on sign language evaluation. A report on the sim/com evaluation was prepared by Mike Goldfarb and Mynga Futrell and submitted to the Council. Members discussed the evaluations, and a suggestion was made that one system could be developed that would allow for differences between various employee groups (Pre-College/College/faculty/staff, etc.).

Edward C. Merrill, Jr. explained that we have a policy stating that we use simultaneous communication, but that this policy does not elaborate beyond that statement. It was suggested that the policy might be made more specific, and particularly that it should state that evaluation must be job related.

Members agreed to take more time reviewing the materials, and the issue will appear again on the next College Council agenda. If you wish to review the report and/or offer input, contact Goldfarb or Futrell.

Herbert Mapes is assistant professor with the Mathematics Department.

Dr. & Mrs. Lionel Evans, left, talk with Edward C. Merrill, Jr. and History Professor Kurt Beerman at a reception held in Evans' honor Oct. 2.

Gallaudet hosts International Seminar

Gallaudet College, through the International Center on Deafness, will host nine participants from nine different countries in the 1980 International Seminar. The purpose of the annual seminar is to provide opportunities for professionals in the field of deafness outside the United States to examine recent developments in the education of deaf people. For many participants, this is the first such experience in their careers.

A significant feature of the participants' month at Gallaudet will be the opportunity for the College community to learn from them. This will be facilitated through a Colloquium on Oct. 17 from 1-2:30 p.m. entitled, "Deaf Education: A Non-American Perspective." Participants will also speak to classes of interested students.

In addition to lectures on deafness at Gallaudet, seminar participants will visit the NAD, St. Elizabeth's Hospital and the Columbia campus of the Maryland School for the Deaf.

Presenters for the International Seminar are from every division of the College. Coordinator of the seminar will be Lionel Evans, the 1980-81 holder of the Powrie V. Doctor Chair. He will be assisted by Veronique Bourguignon, Alice Kelly and Karen King. Evans will lend his years of experience in the British model of education to the seminar by summarizing and synthesizing presentations in order to ensure that the information is relevant to the individual participants.

For more information on the seminar or if you wish to assist in any way, please contact Karen King at x5316.

Grant/contract deadlines

Provided below are application deadlines of selected federal programs that offer potential grant or contract opportunities for Kendall Green faculty, staff and graduate students. The deadline is followed by an abbreviation of the federal agency and the program title. More details on programs of interest can be obtained from Glenn Pfau, Office of Sponsored Research, x5030 (Voice or TDD).

Deadline	Program
10/31/80	OSE—Handicapped Research and Demonstration Field Initiated Studies Grants
11/01/80	NICHHD—Developmental Aspects of Nutrition
11/01/80	NIA—Social and Behavioral Aging Research
11/03/80	NSF—Science Faculty Professional Development
11/03/80	NSF—Postdoctoral Fellowships ($13,800 stipend)
11/03/80	OSE—Model Programs for School Aged Handicapped Children
11/08/80	OSE—Handicapped and High-Risk Youth Grants
11/14/80	NSF—Research Conferences in the Mathematical Sciences

12/16/80	OSE—Educational Media Research Production, Distribution and Training Grants for the Handicapped
12/29/80	OSE—Model Programs for School Aged Handicapped Children Grants

Weekly program highlight

The Division of Innovation and Development, Office of Special Education, Department of Education, has announced two grant opportunities for the development of model programs involving handicapped children. The first deadline—Nov. 3, 1980—relates to the funding of projects which are models of innovative services for school-aged handicapped children. It is anticipated that each program will demonstrate a new or improved approach to educating handicapped children and will aid in the dissemination and replication of successful project components. The major objective is to expand the services usually provided to handicapped children through demonstration of approaches which can be adopted by schools after the federal support ends. For more information, contact Ed Sontag of OSE at 245-9722.

The second deadline—Feb. 27, 1981—relates to grants for establishing and operating model preschool and early education projects which will ultimately serve as national models. For more information, contact Dr. William Swan of OSE at 245-9722. If interested in either of these opportunities, you should submit a request for more information and application forms as soon as possible.

President's Office Notes

The Annual Fund: A new venture

In two weeks the first Gallaudet Annual Fund appeal will be mailed to approximately 8,000 continuing and prospective contributors to the College. Unlike most other private colleges and universities which conduct organized Annual Fund drives every year, Gallaudet has never before actively sought private unrestricted funds on an annual basis. Alumni and others have generously responded to special projects such as the Centennial Fund and the Old Gym Campaign. Many national sororities, fraternities, service clubs and individual donors have provided continuing annual support for scholarship and award programs, and some individuals have contributed regularly for other purposes, but the Annual Fund is a new venture for the College.

Seven distinct groups have been targeted for this first annual appeal: present and past Continuing Education students, Family Learning Vacation participants, Amos Kendall Society members, parents of Gallaudet students, previous non-alumni donors, business associates of the College and selected corporate foundations. Alumni, faculty and staff who have made pledges to the Old Gym campaign will not be contacted for the current annual fund drive. Those who have not yet pledged support for the Old Gym will be given the opportunity to participate in the Annual Fund in the next calendar year.

Plans for the first Annual Fund have been underway for a year. Mailing lists have been prepared, appeal letters developed and a striking brochure designed to state Gallaudet's case for private annual support. Eventually new computer capability will enable the Development Office to automatically record and acknowledge gifts and generate pledge reminders at the appropriate time.

As a part of the Annual Fund, new "gift clubs" have been established which will recognize contributors at various levels. The Gallaudet Society will honor those donors of $1,000 or more as Abraham Lincoln Charter Members, Edward Miner Gallaudet Presidential Members and Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet Associates.

The Amos Kendall Society, long an established "gift club" at Gallaudet, has been reorganized to include new members whose level of annual support is at least $500.

Donors who are able to make substantial gifts are not the only ones who will be important in our effort to increase private support at Gallaudet. No gift, regardless of its size, is insignificant and high levels of participation for each group is a major goal for the fund.

Unrestricted funds from private sources will provide Gallaudet with increased flexibility in funding programs, student activities, faculty development and other priorities of the institution. In the 1980 fiscal year approximately $54,000 in unrestricted money was raised from private sources—almost half of that total from one foundation.

As the Annual Fund develops over the years into an accepted and permanent component of the Gallaudet fundraising effort, we expect that not only will the total dollars raised become a significant resource for the College, but that the number of contributors will be dramatically increased. A broad based Annual Fund will help to meet vital needs that might otherwise go unfunded. This margin for excellence at Gallaudet College will be provided by private giving beyond our federal appropriation and income from student fees.

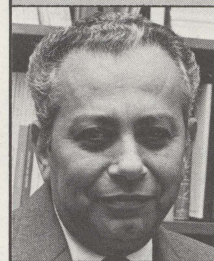

A better-coordinated faculty development program was one suggestion made by groups such as this one which met during Professional Day. That's now a stronger possibility with the receipt of a $25,000 gift from the Fowler Foundation to the Division of Academic Affairs. The funds will be used for faculty and staff development.

Frank Turk has been appointed recently as assistant to the dean for Student Relations in the Division of Student Affairs. He will be establishing and maintaining close working relationships with students and student organizations and will be involved with developing new student development programs and expanding existing ones. He also will serve as a consultant to faculty, staff and administrators relating to their work with students. Turk brings to his new position 28 years of experience with deaf youth and adults in the area of human development. He was formerly director of Youth Relations in the Alumni and Public Relations Office, where he has worked since 1971.

Fall semester enrollment increases

Enrollment has increased this semester at Gallaudet College, MSSD and KDES, compared with figures from this time last year. The College enrollment, in fact, is the largest in the history of Gallaudet.

A total of 2,079 students were registered for fall, 1980 for all three schools—1,525 at the College, 408 at MSSD and 146 at KDES. Last fall, the three schools had a total of 1,980 students.

At the College level, the 1,525 compares with an enrollment of 1,480 students the first semester of last year.

This year at the College, there are 301 graduate students, 1,015 undergraduate students and 209 preparatory students, compared with 278, 1,007 and 195 respectively in fall, 1979. The College has 659 new students this year—507 undergraduate and 152 graduate.

MSSD's 408 students this fall compares with 350 last fall, 1979. Most of the MSSD students are from our primary service area of DC, Maryland, Virginia, Delaware, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia, although 140 of the students are from 28 other states and one foreign country (Liberia). MSSD has 75 new students this year.

At Kendall, this year's enrollment of 146 is almost the same as this time last year when 144 students were reported. This fall, Kendall has 28 preschool students, 45 primary, 39 elementary, 29 middle school and five students participating in the Cued Speech program. This number includes 26 new students.

Homecoming plans firm up

by Mike Kaika

Although Gallaudet doesn't have a football team this year, Homecoming plans for the Oct. 25 weekend are shaping up to be as exciting as ever.

Friday evening, Oct. 24, a pep rally will be held in the MSSD gym, followed by a pre-Homecoming party in the Cafeteria.

Saturday should be an action-packed day. The Gallaudet College Alumni Association will start the day with tours of the Ole Jim beginning at 8:30 a.m., followed by a brunch from 10:30 a.m. until noon. Cost is $5 per person for the brunch, and tickets can be ordered now from Polly Peikoff in the Alumni Office.

The women's field hockey team will kick off the athletic events with a tournament beginning at 8:30 a.m. adjacent to the football field. Tournament participants will be Trinity College, Mt. Vernon College, Georgetown University and Gallaudet. The purpose of this tourney is to select the best field hockey players from each college to make up the Washington College Field Hockey Team. This team will represent the DC area in regional competition. Last year Gallaudet had several women in the regionals and one went on to the National Competition.

At 1 p.m., the highly successful and talented soccer team will play the Mississauga Mohawks, a deaf soccer team from Toronto, Canada, on the football field.

The Student Body Government is planning a parade, float, Homecoming queen and ballroom activities. The ballroom dance will be held at the George Washington University Marvin Center from 7:30 p.m. - 1:30 a.m., with a live band. Drinks will be sold, but beer lovers can also pay $2 for all the beer they can drink. Hors d'oeuvres will be plentiful and free. Admission for the dance is $5 per person or $8 per couple, and tickets can be ordered in advance from Michael Kaufer, P.O. Box 822, Campus Mail. Make checks payable to Homecoming Fund.

The Theatre Arts Department will hold its fall production on Oct. 24 and 25, and again on Oct. 31 and Nov. 1. The presentation will be Peter Weiss' revolutionary play, "The Persecution and Assassination of Jean-Paul Marat as Performed by the Inmates of the Asylum of Charenton Under the Direction of Marquis de Sade."

The play will be held in the College Auditorium and curtain time is 8 p.m. Price is $4.50 for adults. Tickets can be ordered by calling Jo Tracy in the Theatre Arts Department at x5606 voice or x5608 TDD.

The drama production will introduce a new sound system for the benefit of hearing impaired people. The Sennheiser Infrared Listening System is a new dimension in sound designed to help the hard of hearing person anywhere in the audience experience the joy of optimum fidelity. More on this will appear in the next issue.

Last but not least, the Athletic Department is sponsoring a 500 meter (3.1 mile) footrace for anyone who wishes to participate. The race is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m., and all interested persons should assemble at Hughes Gym prior to 10 a.m. for directions.

Barbara Stevens is an assistant professor with the English Department.

Campus visitors

Visitors to campus this week include:
Oct. 13 - Rev. Warren, Philadelphia, leading a group of prospective Pre-College students and families.
- Participants in Training Programs in Continuing and Community Education.
Oct. 14 - Students from G.W.U.
- Sign language students, P.G.C.C.
Oct. 15 - Sign language students and Sandra Frankel, teacher.
- International wives group, World Bank.
Oct. 17 - Charles County Community College, sponsoring a visit to Pre-College for Charles County, MD teachers.

Rotary supports foreign student

Fernando Carvajal-Jaramillo, center, a deaf Adult Basic Education student with Demonstration Programs, will receive a $5,000 grant from the local District 762 Rotary Club and the Cali, Colombia Rotary Club to study in this country next year. Here, he talks with Toni Rees, left, coordinator of services for international students at Gallaudet, and Henry Tate, right, chairman of the Gallaudet Foundations Committee of Rotary, about his future plans. Carvajal-Jaramillo arrived in DC in August, 1979 from Cali, Colombia, knowing no English or American sign language. He is studying English with Demonstration Programs, plans to enroll in a community college for a year and then hopes to transfer to Gallaudet. He was also awarded a $500 grant from Rotary International for the rest of this semester. Also in attendance at the Sept. 29 luncheon were Walter Marshall, district governor of Rotary District 762, Don Pettingill, director of Demonstration Programs, Nancy Pollock, adult basic education specialist at Gallaudet, and Mike Kaika, A/PR writer.

Political festival

Representatives from the Reagan, Anderson and Carter campaigns spoke about their candidates. Speaking for Reagan was Carol Foryst, vice president of Public Relations with Amtrak and a surrogate speaker for his campaign; for Anderson was Paul Sieracki, midwestern political director for the Anderson campaign; and for Carter was Barbara Lutts, DC state coordinator for the campaign.

In between the speeches, the group, "Expressions," led by Janet Bailey, performed several songs and led the group in signing the National Anthem.

A lot of credit for organizing the successful rally should go to Lauri Meyer, assistant with Demonstration Programs, and Alice Sykora, program assistant with the Student Union.
